ANY IDEAS? · Mine cracks too.... just between the thawing respirator and the windshield.... it was like that when I bought it. They haven't replaced it yet but it's a simple replacement... that top of the script is just a few screws on each side and a few clips at the top... comes out with the boost indicator and can only transfer the flag to the new one if you ever get one.... I have a price at the local dealer for $185. · Start of discussion · #3 • June 6, 2010 already patients have to go at a price also thanks · mine is is cracked where the air comes out near the windshield · I think a lot of srt4/neon dash bearing owners are cracked, you can pick up one of the garbage yards for cheap. the regular neon scripts are the same except the impulse hole, you should cut the opening, which is not difficult at all. yup, cheap dashboards.... replaced mine by going to the dealership and getting a new one. · It doesn't stop. Mine cracked where the bottom left finger/pin thing goes into your guide to keep the script in place. After the spread of cracks began to cut his self, there is now a softball-sized hole on the right if the VIN is played Fix while you can! · so how much is that top script part... Dodge told me 680. and now someone else said 185? how much is i really if it's the sick 185 go buy a NOW but i wont right now for 680. No one has anything else to clarify this. thanks · so how much is that top script part... Dodge told me 680. and now someone else said 185? how much is i really if it's the sick 185 go buy a NOW but i wont right now for 680. No one has anything else to clarify this. thanks $680?? Wow... who priced you either priced the entire board or just threw a price out there.... I work in a dealer and we have a contract with the distributor to dodge a few exits from us.... so the $185 was actually my discount price but even without the discount its anywhere near $680...maybe about $200....and I checked a few garbage yards already, I know how to make the sxt script fit but I haven't been lucky enough finding one. · I asked a local dealer yesterday, the top piece is $230. · just paid .231 for the top dash and 42 for a new bezel for the momentum indicator got it from the central Florida Dodge. · cracked mines too (from the vin about 2 back), someone has ever used vinal repair kits. What is the best way to prevent this from happening for future information? Stay out of the sunlight, obviously. Winshield reflectors when your car is parked? All-in-armor? (I don't know if I trust these things.) · it... i didn't know this was an issue... I'm sure I'm glad to park in a garage. · cracked mines too (since the vin around 2 back), someone has ever used vinal repair kits which is about where mine started, but haven't used a repair kit before. What is the best way to prevent this from happening for future information? Stay out of the sunlight, obviously. Winshield reflectors when your car is parked? All-in-armor? (I don't know if I trust these things.) It was all good when I was up to date with him, I armored all this every Sunday. Then I rolled out and my parents left him sitting in the heat of South Texas for an entire summer and the first time I went to put the script back into it cracked. · This is about where mine started, but I haven't used a repair kit before. It was all good when I was up to date with him, I armored all this every Sunday. Then I rolled out and my parents left him sitting in the heat of South Texas for a whole and the first time I went to put the script back into it cracked. Yes and armor all my script all the time looks good. Does anyone think this will make the script crack? Yes and armor all my script all the time so it looks good. Does anyone think this will make the script crack? I personally think that armor can all make the script crack so I don't use it at all. The key signature of all major purposes is to protect rubber/vinyl surfaces from UV rays by coating them with an oily substance. Let it sit in the sun while you're at work or at home and I think this causes a disaster for surface areas that have been treated. Just my .02 though. I just erased the script and kept it in the shade w/ cracked windows and windsheld cover/reflector (whatever hell is said) up. · I personally think that armor can all make the script crack so I don't use it at all.
